

INDEX

Volume 68 September 1996 - May 1997

Titles

- Acting tactics: you've found the conflict; now choose your weapons,
by Bruce Miller May
- Act the conflict: do what you need to win, and the story will take care of itself, by Bruce Miller April
- All that glitters: jewelry designer Polly Scranton Bohdanetzky,
by Kay Ward May
- The American voice, by Chuck Jones January
- B.A. or B.F.A.? What the letters mean, by Samuel J. Zachary December
- Be prepared: rain gear and bug spray are the summer techie's best friends, by Steve Nelson February
- Borrowing trouble: New York directors frown on copied blocking,
by Julie York November
- A celebration of spirit: the National Black Theatre Festival,
by Robin Barksdale Ervin May
- Cheap business: Lynn Redgrave gives a lesson in making moments real,
by Jackie Demaline November
- Craig T. Nelson, school theatre's new MVP March
- A creation story: celebrity authors of Children of Eden
dispel some myths, by Julie York September
- Crime pays: unravelling the mystery of one show's long-running success,
by Tony Vellela April
- Darling (play), by Alison Stine November
- The designer's homework: where do ideas for sets and costumes
come from?, by Holly Monsos January
- A different game: how film acting is like theatre, and how it's not,
by Bruce Miller November
- Diversify: Andre De Shields works the white room (speech) September
- Don't hold your breath: it's a natural part of acting,
by Chuck Jones March
- Dreamtime (play), by Catherine Keyser October
- An epic Eden: John Steinbeck's sprawling novel becomes two plays in Louisville, by James Palmarini January
- Euripides's digs? Archeologists claim they've found a playwright's underground lair, by Don Corathers March
- A foggy forecast: where there's smoke, there's an argument,
by Don Corathers September
- Getting in shape for college, by Bruce Miller September
- The glamorous life: the artist's lot: late hours, clashing obligations, financial peril, by Jeffrey Sweet May
- Going the distance: Steel Pier's Debra Monk, by Tony Vellela May
- Goodbye, Sandy: Sanford Meisner was the dean of American acting teachers, by Julie York April
- The Greatest Man Alive (play), by Eli Bolin October
- High noon: at the college audition, it's kill or be killed,
by Bruce Miller December
- Hollywood confidential: some things you should know before you get on the bus, by Geoff Williams May
- A house divided: August Wilson and Robert Brustein discuss race and theatre, and nothing is revealed, by Alexis Greene April
- I'm not a paramedic, but I play one on TV, by Leslie Gwyn November
- In the bag: an easy, inexpensive garment bag helps actors keep their stuff together, by Howard Vincent Kurtz October
- The late, lamented Circle Rep, by Jeffrey Sweet January
- Learn Me Somethin' (play), by Michael Schneider September
- The Lesson (play), by Alison Stine May
- Making a difference: Frank Bluestein, performing arts teacher of the year, by James Palmarini March
- Maledicta: Shakespearean insults, by Jerry Maguire January
- The new musicals: younger, hipper, louder, by Tony Vellela September
- Northern exposure: in Alaska, a boot camp for young artists,
by Julie York February
- An ocean between them: it's been a good season for watching the Brits,
by Jeffrey Sweet March
- On their feet: teachers brush up their Shakespeare in Louisville,
by James Palmarini February
- Out of the ashes: when disaster strikes, a high school theatre survives—
and thrives, by Julie York January

- A piece of work: finally, a complete Hamlet on film,
by Michael Heinlein April
- The play survey October
- Pirates on the prairie: one troupe's Thespian Festival story,
by Julie York October
- Political science: Ming Cho Lee on the artist's duty to society
(speech) October
- The quick change, by Cindy Saalfeld and Steve Nelson April
- Scolding Rondell (play), by Richard Kalinoski January
- The setup: a film intern's long journey to the wrap,
by Benjamin Yee February
- Sitting pretty: a conversation with Sarah Jessica Parker,
by Tony Vellela March
- Small Actors (play), by Stephen Gregg April
- Smile now: the drama masks have fallen into bad company,
by Don Corathers November
- Stop the presses: a seasoned TV extra finally gets her say,
by Leslie Gwyn September
- Surfing for schools: college shopping on the Web,
by Don Corathers December
- The tech portfolio: don't botch this job, by Steve Nelson December
- The Unseen (play), by Carla Anderson March
- What is theatre? The actor, the performance, and the audience, by Bruce Miller October
- ### Authors
- Anderson, Carla: The Unseen (play) March
- Bolin, Eli: The Greatest Man Alive (play) October
- Brotman, Toni: review of Actors Take Action by Brian O'Neil November
- Corathers, Don:
Euripides's digs? Archeologists claim they've found a playwright's underground lair March
- Foggy forecast: where there's smoke, there's ire September
- Smile now: the drama masks have fallen into bad company November
- Surfing for schools: college shopping on the Web December
- Demaline, Jackie: Cheap business: Lynn Redgrave gives a lesson in making moments real November
- De Shields, Andre: a speech on cultural diversity in theatre education October
- Ervin, Robin Barksdale: a celebration of spirit: the National Black Theatre Festival May
- Greene, Alexis: A house divided: August Wilson and Robert Brustein
discuss race and theatre, and nothing is revealed April
- Gregg, Stephen: Small Actors (play) April
- Gwyn, Leslie:
I'm not a paramedic, but I play one on TV November
- Stop the presses: a TV extra finally gets her say September
- Heinlein, Michael: A piece of work: a complete Hamlet on film April
- Jones, Chuck:
The American voice January
- Don't hold your breath: it's a natural part of acting March
- Kalinowski, Richard: Scolding Rondell (play) January
- Keyser, Catherine: Dreamtime (play) October
- Kurtz, Howard Vincent: In the bag: an easy, inexpensive garment bag helps actors keep their stuff together October
- Lee, Ming Cho: a speech on the artist's duty to society October
- Maguire, Jerry: Maledicta: Shakespearean insults January
- Miller, Bruce:
Acting tactics: you've found the conflict; now choose your weapons May
- Act the conflict, and the story will take care of itself April
- A different game: how film acting is like theatre,
and how it's not November
- Getting in shape for college September
- High noon: at the college audition, it's kill or be killed December
- Review of Classical Acting by Malcolm Morrison November
- What is theatre? The actor, the performance, and the audience October

INDEX

Volume 68 September 1996 - May 1997

Titles

- Acting tactics: you've found the conflict; now choose your weapons,
by Bruce Miller May
- Act the conflict: do what you need to win, and the story will take care
of itself, by Bruce Miller April
- All that glitters: jewelry designer Polly Scranton Bohdanetzky,
by Kay Ward May
- The American voice, by Chuck Jones January
- B.A. or B.F.A.? What the letters mean, by Samuel J. Zachary December
- Be prepared: rain gear and bug spray are the summer techie's best friends, by Steve Nelson February
- Borrowing trouble: New York directors frown on copied blocking,
by Julie York November
- A celebration of spirit: the National Black Theatre Festival,
by Robin Barksdale Ervin May
- Cheap business: Lynn Redgrave gives a lesson in making moments real,
by Jackie Demaline November
- Craig T. Nelson, school theatre's new MVP March
- A creation story: celebrity authors of Children of Eden
dispel some myths, by Julie York September
- Crime pays: unravelling the mystery of one show's long-running success,
by Tony Vellela April
- Darling (play), by Alison Stine November
- The designer's homework: where do ideas for sets and costumes
come from?, by Holly Monsos January
- A different game: how film acting is like theatre, and how it's not,
by Bruce Miller November
- Diversify: Andre De Shields works the white room (speech) September
- Don't hold your breath: it's a natural part of acting,
by Chuck Jones March
- Dreamtime (play), by Catherine Keyser October
- An epic Eden: John Steinbeck's sprawling novel becomes two plays
in Louisville, by James Palmarini January
- Euripides's digs? Archeologists claim they've found a playwright's
underground lair, by Don Corathers March
- A foggy forecast: where there's smoke, there's an argument,
by Don Corathers September
- Getting in shape for college, by Bruce Miller September
- The glamorous life: the artist's lot: late hours, clashing obligations,
financial peril, by Jeffrey Sweet May
- Going the distance: Steel Pier's Debra Monk, by Tony Vellela May
- Goodbye, Sandy: Sanford Meisner was the dean of American acting
teachers, by Julie York April
- The Greatest Man Alive (play), by Eli Bolin October
- High noon: at the college audition, it's kill or be killed,
by Bruce Miller December
- Hollywood confidential: some things you should know before you
get on the bus, by Geoff Williams May
- A house divided: August Wilson and Robert Brustein discuss race and theatre, and nothing is revealed, by Alexis Greene April
- I'm not a paramedic, but I play one on TV, by Leslie Gwyn November
- In the bag: an easy, inexpensive garment bag helps actors keep
their stuff together, by Howard Vincent Kurtz October
- The late, lamented Circle Rep, by Jeffrey Sweet January
- Learn Me Somethin' (play), by Michael Schneider September
- The Lesson (play), by Alison Stine May
- Making a difference: Frank Bluestein, performing arts teacher of the year, by James Palmarini March
- Maledicta: Shakespearean insults, by Jerry Maguire January
- The new musicals: younger, hipper, louder, by Tony Vellela September
- Northern exposure: in Alaska, a boot camp for young artists,
by Julie York February
- An ocean between them: it's been a good season for watching the Brits,
by Jeffrey Sweet March
- On their feet: teachers brush up their Shakespeare in Louisville,
by James Palmarini February
- Out of the ashes: when disaster strikes, a high school theatre survives—
and thrives, by Julie York January

- A piece of work: finally, a complete Hamlet on film,
by Michael Heinlein April
- The play survey October
- Pirates on the prairie: one troupe's Thespian Festival story,
by Julie York October
- Political science: Ming Cho Lee on the artist's duty to society
(speech) October
- The quick change, by Cindy Saalfeld and Steve Nelson April
- Scolding Rondell (play), by Richard Kalinoski January
- The setup: a film intern's long journey to the wrap,
by Benjamin Yee February
- Sitting pretty: a conversation with Sarah Jessica Parker,
by Tony Vellela March
- Small Actors (play), by Stephen Gregg April
- Smile now: the drama masks have fallen into bad company,
by Don Corathers November
- Stop the presses: a seasoned TV extra finally gets her say,
by Leslie Gwyn September
- Surfing for schools: college shopping on the Web,
by Don Corathers December
- The tech portfolio: don't botch this job, by Steve Nelson December
- The Unseen (play), by Carla Anderson March
- What is theatre? The actor, the performance, and the audience,
by Bruce Miller October
- ### Authors
- Anderson, Carla: The Unseen (play) March
- Bolin, Eli: The Greatest Man Alive (play) October
- Brotman, Toni: review of Actors Take Action by Brian O'Neil November
- Corathers, Don:
Euripides's digs? Archeologists claim they've found a playwright's
underground lair March
- Foggy forecast: where there's smoke, there's ire September
- Smile now: the drama masks have fallen into bad company November
- Surfing for schools: college shopping on the Web December
- Demaline, Jackie: Cheap business: Lynn Redgrave gives a lesson
in making moments real November
- De Shields, Andre: a speech on cultural diversity
in theatre education October
- Ervin, Robin Barksdale: a celebration of spirit: the National Black Theatre Festival May
- Greene, Alexis: A house divided: August Wilson and Robert Brustein
discuss race and theatre, and nothing is revealed April
- Gregg, Stephen: Small Actors (play) April
- Gwyn, Leslie:
I'm not a paramedic, but I play one on TV November
- Stop the presses: a TV extra finally gets her say September
- Heinlein, Michael: A piece of work: a complete Hamlet on film April
- Jones, Chuck:
The American voice January
- Don't hold your breath: it's a natural part of acting March
- Kalinowski, Richard: Scolding Rondell (play) January
- Keyser, Catherine: Dreamtime (play) October
- Kurtz, Howard Vincent: In the bag: an easy, inexpensive garment bag
helps actors keep their stuff together October
- Lee, Ming Cho: a speech on the artist's duty to society October
- Maguire, Jerry: Maledicta: Shakespearean insults January
- Miller, Bruce:
Acting tactics: you've found the conflict; now choose
your weapons May
- Act the conflict, and the story will take care of itself April
- A different game: how film acting is like theatre,
and how it's not November
- Getting in shape for college September
- High noon: at the college audition, it's kill or be killed December
- Review of Classical Acting by Malcolm Morrison November
- What is theatre? The actor, the performance,
and the audience October

Monsos, Holly: The designer's homework	January
Nelson, Steve: Be prepared: rain gear and bug spray are the summer techie's best friends	February
The quick change (with Cindy Saalfeld)	April
The tech portfolio: don't botch this job	December
Palmarini, James: An epic Eden: John Steinbeck's sprawling novel becomes two plays in Louisville	January
Making a difference: Frank Bluestein, performing arts teacher of the year	March
On their feet: teachers brush up their Shakespeare in Louisville	February
Saalfeld, Cindy: The quick change (with Steve Nelson)	April
Schneider, Michael: Learn Me Somethin' (play)	September
Stine, Alison: Darling (play)	November
The Lesson (play)	May
Sweet, Jeffrey: The glamorous life: the artist's lot	May
The late, lamented Circle Rep	December
An ocean between them: it's been a good season for watching the Brits	March
Vellela, Tony: Crime pays: unraveling the mystery of one show's success	April
Going the distance: Steel Pier's Debra Monk	May
The new musicals: younger, hipper, louder	September
Sitting pretty: a conversation with Sarah Jessica Parker	March
Ward, Kay: All that glitters: jewelry designer Polly Scranton Bohdanetzky	May Williams, Geoff: Hollywood confidential: some things you should know before you get on the bus	May
Yee, Benjamin: The setup: a film intern's long journey to the wrap	February
York, Julie: Borrowing trouble: directors frown on copied blocking	November
A creation story: celebrity authors of Children of Eden dispel some myths	September
Goodbye, Sandy: Sanford Meisner was the dean of American acting teachers	April
Northern exposure: in Alaska, a boot camp for young artists	February
Out of the ashes: when disaster strikes, a high school theatre survives—and thrives	January
Pirates on the prairie: one troupe's Thespian Festival story ...	October
Zachary, Samuel J.: B.A. or B.F.A.: what the letters mean	December Subjects
Acting and directing
Acting tactics: you've found the conflict; now choose your weapons, by Bruce Miller	May Act the conflict: do what you need to win, and the story will take care of itself, by Bruce Miller	April
The American voice, by Chuck Jones	January
A different game: how film acting is like theatre, and how it's not, by Bruce Miller	November
Don't hold your breath: it's a natural part of acting, by Chuck Jones	March Book Reviews
Actors Take Action , by Brian O'Neil (Toni Brotons)	November
Classical Acting , by Malcolm Morrison (Bruce Miller)	November
Conversations with Choreographers , by Svetlana McLee Grody and Dorothy Daniels Lister	November
Rehearsal Management for Directors , by David Alberts	November
From Assassins to West Side Story: The Director's Guide to Musical Theatre , by Scott Miller	November College
B.A. or B.F.A.? What the letters mean, by Samuel J. Zachary ...	December
Getting in shape for college, by Bruce Miller	September
High noon: at the college audition, it's kill or be killed, by Bruce Miller	December
Surfing for schools: college shopping on the Web, by Don Corathers	December
The tech portfolio: don't botch this job, by Steve Nelson	December
Directories
1996 College Theatre Directory	December
1996 Summer Theatre Directory	February

Interviews and profiles

All that glitters: jewelry designer Polly Scranton Bohdanetzky, by Kay Ward	May Going the distance: Steel Pier's Debra Monk, by Tony Vellela	May
Craig T. Nelson, school theatre's new MVP	March
Sitting pretty: a conversation with Sarah Jessica Parker, by Tony Vellela	March

Miscellany

The glamorous life: the artist's lot, by Jeffrey Sweet	May
I'm not a paramedic, but I play one on TV, by Leslie Gwyn	November
Maledicta: Shakespearean insults, by Jerry Maguire	January
A piece of work: a complete Hamlet on film, by Michael Heinlein ...	April
The setup: a film intern's long journey to the wrap, by Benjamin Yee	February
Stop the presses: a TV extra gets her say, by Leslie Gwyn	September
What is theatre? The actor, the performance, and the audience, by Bruce Miller	October

Plays

Darling , by Alison Stine	November
Dreamtime , by Catherine Keyser	October
The Greatest Man Alive , by Eli Bolin	October
Learn Me Somethin' , by Michael Schneider	September
The Lesson , by Alison Stine	May Scolding Rondell , by Richard Kalinoski	January
Small Actors , by Stephen Gregg	April
The Unseen , by Carla Anderson	March

Reports

Borrowing trouble: New York directors frown on copied blocking, by Julie York	November
A celebration of spirit: the National Black Theatre Festival, by Robin Barksdale Ervin	May
Cheap business: Lynn Redgrave gives a lesson in making moments real, by Jackie Demaline	November
A creation story: celebrity authors of Children of Eden dispel some myths, by Julie York	September Crime pays: unravelling the mystery of one show's long-running success, by Tony Vellela	April
Diversify: Andre De Shields works the white room	September
An epic Eden: John Steinbeck's sprawling novel becomes two plays in Louisville, by James Palmarini	January
Euripides's digs? Archeologists claim they've found a playwright's underground lair, by Don Corathers	March
A foggy forecast: where there's smoke, there's an argument, by Don Corathers	September
Goodbye, Sandy: Sanford Meisner was the dean of American acting teachers, by Julie York	April
Hollywood confidential: some things you should know before you get on the bus, by Geoff Williams	May
A house divided: August Wilson and Robert Brustein discuss race and theatre, and nothing is revealed, by Alexis Greene	April
The late, lamented Circle Rep, by Jeffrey Sweet	January
Making a difference: Frank Bluestein, performing arts teacher of the year, by James Palmarini	March
The new musicals: younger, hipper, louder, by Tony Vellela ..	September
Northern exposure: in Alaska, a boot camp for young artists, by Julie York	February
An ocean between them: it's been a good season for watching the Brits, by Jeffrey Sweet	March
On their feet: teachers brush up their Shakespeare in Louisville, by James Palmarini	February
Out of the ashes: when disaster strikes, a high school theatre survives— and thrives, by Julie York	January
The play survey	November
Pirates on the prairie: one troupe's Thespian Festival story, by Julie York	October
Political science: Ming Cho Lee on the artist's duty to society ...	October
Smile now: the drama masks have fallen into bad company, by Don Corathers	November
Tech Theatre
Be prepared: rain gear and bug spray are the summer techie's best friends, by Steve Nelson	February
The designer's homework: where do ideas for sets and costumes come from?, by Holly Monsos	January
In the bag: an easy, inexpensive garment bag helps actors keep their stuff together, by Howard Vincent Kurtz	October
The quick change, by Cindy Saalfeld and Steve Nelson	April